

Greek Wines

The Athenian House wine list includes only wines from Greek vineyards, both indigenous, century-old Greek grapes and international varieties, grown on Greek terroirs by the country's most prestigious winemakers. Selected wines complement the restaurant's culinary journey from Crete to Cyclades, the Peloponnese and Northern Greece, offering guests a glimpse of each geographic region, along with the climate and the soil which form its' unique winemaking identity.

Santorini Wines

Santorini vineyards represent few of the very rare and unique vines in the world, some of them tracing back to 400 year old roots. Due to the special nature of their soil, pumice stone and volcanic earth, the ungrafted vines remain unspoiled and intact from the phylloxera catastrophe of the 20th century.

Santorini Wines

OLD VINTAGES & COLLECTORS' RARE BOTTLES

The Athenian House currently owns one of the largest vintage collections of Santorini wines, with rare bottles of assyrtiko, nychteri, aidani & mavrotragano from the most renown wineries on the island.

Mineral, complex white wines mingle with dry, dense reds from scorched Santorini volcanic earth.

ASSYRTIKO ICONIC LABELS BY LEGENDS

A collection of rare collectors' last or single bottles from the best wineries in Santorini.

ASSYRTIKO SANTORINI

The most famous Santorini white grape variety, gives a very dry, mineral, almost saline white wine, which embodies the volcanic soil of its birthplace. Assyrtiko has undoubtedly earned the role of Greek ambassador, as the superstar of Greek viticulture worldwide. Once tasted, it is never forgotten.

An extraordinary very rare wine, submerged just off the seacoast of Santorini, to a depth of 20m for four years, thus aged away from light and unaffected by oxygen. An assyrtiko of true marine origin, with an intense saline flavor and a surprising freshness, without any sign of oxidation. A unique wine every wine-lover should try once in their life.

Santorini Wines

OLD VINTAGES & COLLECTORS' RARE BOTTLES

AIDANI

One of the oldest Aegean wine varieties, its' more floral, aromatic and buttery character contrasts with the nature of assyrtiko. Aidani is a white salty volcanic wine, with an interesting aging potential.

A vintage bottle of Aidani can also be enjoyed after dinner like a good Cognac.

NYCHTERI

This is the traditional white feast wine of the island, cherished by locals for its dry white oaky flavors. It takes its name from "nychta"- night, because it was always pressed on the same night of its harvest. Like all Santorini whites, it can be enjoyed as a red wine, combined equally well with meat or fish dishes.

Volcanic Wines of the World

Volcanic wines are made from grapes grown on volcanic soils, representing only 1% of the earth's surface. Starting from the volcanic cluster of this unique island and celebrating 10 years of gastronomy & winetasting in Santorini, in 2025 The Athenian House introduces rare volcanic wines from around the world.

From Santorini's Caldera to Mount Vesuvius in Sicily, from the Canary Islands in Spain to Colchagua Valley in Chile, from the Mosel in Germany to the basalt soils of Oregon USA, our volcanic selection is the fruit of months of research into grape varieties, vineyards and wineries, which transcend the diversity, acidity & minerality created by ancient lava flows.

Our Oenologist Panos Zouboulis

Born in Athens, Zouboulis is one of the first oenologists of his generation, who studied food technology in Athens and then pursued his studies in oenology at the University of Bordeaux, while he later worked at several châteaux in France. With almost fifty years of experience and presence in the field of wine and counseling wines in Greece and abroad, Zouboulis is a specialist in organic and biodynamic cultivation of vines and olives. His true passion lies in rare and unique vines in the world, which remain unspoiled and intact from the phylloxera catastrophe. A true pioneer and perfectionist, he works today as a Consultant Oenologist in Greece and Argentina, while many of his creations have received major distinctions.

Prices are in Euros & inclusive of all taxes.
